A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Class of 2020:

Congratulations! All your dedication and hard work have led to the much-anticipated moment when you hold your degree from Montclair State University. I join the faculty and your family and friends in applauding all your accomplishment.

Your final year was altered by the coronavirus pandemic in ways that no one could have anticipated, and you were caught up in one of the biggest challenges that the world has faced in many decades. The circumstances presented you with many unexpected obstacles to overcome and some disappointments as well, but you overcame the obstacles and you got past the dais. Those experiences made you tougher and even readier to go out and make your way in this world, a world that desperately needs your talents and abilities.

You will become the great scientists and the great teachers. You will become the business leaders, the senators and governors, the artists and performers, heath-care workers, social workers, nurses and public health experts who will build a healthier, more just, and more sustainable world.

This year was not an easy time to be graduating, but the world and your future will be out there for you. Go forth with Red Hawk pride, and seize the day!

With warmest best wishes,

Susan A. Cole

DR. PENNINGTON

Dear Members of the Class of 2020:

This yearbook is a photographic record of an extraordinary period in your life. The last semester of your senior year was literally one for the history books. 2020 began in a way that none of us could have anticipated and certainly brought unexpected sorrow and unfilled dreams. But like all difficult experiences, they are temporary and provide the promise of better days ahead. Now that you have graduated, you will have many of the latter to look forward to and celebrate in the future.

As have graduates before you, I believe you will find that this book becomes more valuable to you as the years go by. It allows you to look back at your time at Montclair State University and remember the great experiences you had and the terrific people that you met during your college years. As you browse the yearbook, you can review the ever-changing landscape of the campus and remember how you learned and changed as well.

During your time at Montclair State you were able to "Come as You Are" – to be in a place where you were accepted for who you are and be whatever you want to be – no matter how different or unusual! Your University is a place where you were able to learn and grow, laugh and cry; all while getting a world class education that will be yours forever. No one will ever be able to take away your self-discovery, insights into the world around you, or the relationships with faculty and friends that you gained as a part of this community. We hope you will come back often and enjoy what you helped build and what is yet to come.

Congratulations on all the years of study and hard work that have resulted in graduation from Montclair State University. Completing an undergraduate degree is an accomplishment shared by a very small percentage of the population; cherish the experience. As you establish yourself in your new life and career, take with you the tools and values you learned from your family and acquired at the University to help you be all you want to be. Continue to aim high. Choose compassion over complacency and prize courage over comfort. Use your imagination, ingenuity and audacity to explore, discover and change a world filled with ceaseless and kaleidoscopic challenges. Become an engaged and responsible global citizen. Be a mentor and trusted friend. Embark on new adventures and continue to grow as an educated, ethical and caring person.

I am confident you will make the right choices and do the right things. Go out into your community and the world and make your mark. As we know from the difficulties experienced in 2020, the world needs you to be a part of making it better for everyone. We are proud that you are an alumnus of Montclair State University. Best wishes for a happy, healthy and productive future.
Sincerely,

Dr. Karen L. Pennington

DEAN CARTER

Dean of Students

Dear Graduates,

I celebrate you and applaud you in achieving your degree. I am proud of the dedication you have shown in your academic and personal growth at Montclair State University.

You have shown strength, resiliency and civic mindfulness, so I challenge each of you to "come as you are" and share "in the building and development of a better human experience for all." You have been given the tools to foster creativity and innovation in a diverse world which needs you now more than ever.

"Come as you are" and be your authentic self. Always strive to think with an open mind, love with a compassionate heart and act with a sense of integrity.

Your college graduation has propelled you to another level of responsibility. "Come as you are" with a determination to leave every career experience and relationship better than you found it. "Come as you are" empowered with a sense of purpose to fulfill your goals for your future.

No doubt, you will remember your graduation as the Class of COVID-19. However, we will remember you always, as the class that persevered and demonstrated courage, strength and resolve in the face of extreme challenges.

I congratulate you and those who have supported you along the way.

I wish each of you the very best. Carpe Diem.

SGA EXECUTIVE PRESIDENT

To the Class of 2020,

First I would like to start off by congratulating everyone on graduating during a global pandemic! It hurts that we could not be together our last semester of college. We may not have had a traditional last school year, however, this event has shifted our lives and we will be able to tell it to the future generations to come. We made it through the toughest semester in history and that shows we can make it through any obstacle that life throws our way. During our time at MSU, we made a lot of connections that we will cherish forever, whether it was in an organization, sporting events, campus jobs, classrooms or even in the quad!

With all the trials and tribulations we went through this past year, it was an honor to serve you as the Executive President of The Student Government Association. All of the experiences you've had at MSU will forever be just the beginning of your journey in this world. I wish you all the best of luck in all of your future endeavors.

"Your very existence is wrapped up in the things you need to fulfill.
Whatever you choose for a career path, remember the struggles along the way are only meant to shape you for your purpose." -Chadwick Boseman

VOTING STUDENT TRUSTEE
BOARD OF TRUSTEES

To My Fellow 2020 Graduates,

If the world were 100 people, only 7 of them would have a college degree. You have obtained something that is rare and precious, regardless of how difficult it was to get here. It is a privilege for us to hold a college education in a country where the costs of education are rising exponentially. I hope we all use this privilege to benefit those who never had this option.

In the months leading up to your graduation, you might have felt the pressure to figure out the rest of your life - I know I have. While your friends, your family, and strangers on the street will want to know what your plan is, I urge you not to block off opportunities in favor of sticking to one plan. Have as little of a plan as you want. Have no plan, even. There is no perfect set of steps to get you to where you want to go. Your interests will change, your opportunities will change, and you will change. Chase after what you want. If the worst you can hear is "no," then go for it, learn from it, and grow from it. Do not sell yourself short and do not allow your inner critic to intimidate you. The right opportunities will reveal themselves, and if they are not there, then make them yourself.

You will see others appear to have it all, and you will feel the urge to make a comparison. I ask that you remember that no one shouts about their failures, no one takes pictures at their lowest moments, and no one advertises when they feel lost. That doesn't mean it doesn't happen. Comparison is the thief of joy. Your timing is yours for a reason, so I hope we together learn to trust ourselves and trust that opportunities will come and we will each have our moment to take them. Happiness and success have no timeline.

If COVID-19 has taught me anything, it is how little control we have over the future. That can be terrifying, but it can also be freeing. Despite all the curveballs thrown at us this year, we adapted and adjusted. We mourned and we celebrated. The resilience of the Class of 2020 is something special. In light of this, I hope that you reward yourself with gentleness. You got this far; you deserve to be kind to yourself.

This is an exciting and uncertain time in our lives. There is a beauty in the uncertainty - your options are open. No one can tell you what the next step is but yourself. So instead of looking over at what your peers are doing, please look back on what you've accomplished, and look forward to what you will accomplish. This is not the final destination for any of us. We have some more growing to do, and some more failing to do. There is no linear path to where you want to go - drawbacks are necessary to learn from and to grow stronger from. And when you feel like you have no idea what you're doing and you're falling behind, remember that you're not alone, you've been here before, and you did just fine.

Sincerely,
Nikita Williams

"Way back, seemingly a long, long time ago, we started the spring semester bustling around campus, looking forward to the day when you could stand proudly while your friends and family and we, your faculty and staff and the Deans Office, could join in celebrating your achievements. We all mourned the loss of this chance to enjoy a day dedicated to recognizing you.

As disappointing as that was, I want to remind you that this is one day on a long path and the path is the important thing, not the day. You came to MSU to get an education, develop some very important skills, and participate in a wide array of experiences. Most importantly, you have become life-long learners able to forge rewarding, meaningful and successful lives and careers, whatever that may mean to you.

Reaching this point with your degree in hand – especially in the midst of a pandemic and lockdown -- is a great testament to your will, perseverance and talent. We are so proud of you and your achievements at MSU. On behalf of the College and the Dean's Office, I wanted to wish you congratulations on reaching this day. As you go forward, please do stay in touch with us – we want to hear about the adventures you're about to set out on."

We are confident that they will help positively transform our collective futures as they become tomorrow's innovation leaders. Congratulations to our newest College of Science and Mathematics alumni!"

NICHOLAS RAMOS

Freshman year I frequently found myself with and without purpose on campus. Greek Life introduced me to a whole new role filled with so many unique ways to get involved and grow as an individual and a leader. So come as you are, there is something beautiful waiting for you here.

Every organization in the Greek community has one or more philanthropies that the organization centers its fundraising around. Many fraternities and sorororities hold large on-campus events, like the many pictured! Below is Theta Phi Alpha's "Campus Feud" for Camp Friendship, Phi Sigma Sigma's "Phield Day" for the Kids In Need Foundation, Delta Chi's "White Carnation Queen" for the Jimmy V Foundation, and Sigma Delta Phi's "Breast Cancer Bingo" for breast cancer research.

Above, Hermanos of Lambda Upsilon Lambda participated in "Friends Day," sisters of Lambda Tau Omega participate in community service, Sigma Delta Phi attended the Susan G. Komen "Race For The Cure," brothers of Lamdba Sigma Upsilon helped clean campus, and lastly members of TLC, UGC, and IGC organizations designed and colored socks to donate.

Between being united again with our college friends, homecoming activities, and the beautiful changing colors on our campus, Montclair is the only place I want to be in the fall. This is where memories are made, and this will always be home.

FALL EVENTS

HOMECOMING DAY

"I am beyond blessed to be a part of such an amazing and accepting college. I met so many amazing friends throughout my journey here and there has never been a day where I have not cheered them on! Homecoming plays a special role in my life, allowing people to express themselves while working with a team to showcase sweet dancing skills. Also, it brings so many alumni and undergraduates together! I cannot wait for the next!"

JULIA SLUYTER
B.A. Theatre Studies, Theta Kappa Chi

HOMECOMING SHOWCASE

"Homecoming is such an amazing time! You can really sense how tight knit Montclair State's community is. Plus, who doesn't love a bit of football, school spirit, and some dancing!"

HOMECOMING GAME

Montclair State Red Hawks completely shut out the Christopher Newport Captains winning 24 to 0!

"Montclair State University, especially cheer, has taught me to not be afraid of taking risks, that the greatest moments in life come from being out of your comfort zone!"

RACHEL QUINN
All-Girl Cheer, Resident Assistant Coordinator for Hawk Crossings

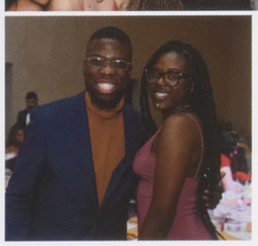
WINTER BALL

Winter Ball is one of the most exciting and anticipated events that is hosted by SLAM. Student Life at Montclair hosts Winter Ball as Montclair State's fall semester formal for all undergraduate students to attend. This year, the "Winter Gala" took place at The Cosmopolitan in Wayne. Every student in attendance was decked out in their best attire, and definitely had a great time while looking just as good!



FALL COMEDY SERIES

Every Fall semester Student Life at Montclair, SLAM, showcases a concert or event. This school year, they brought MTV's hit show, Wild n' Out! The show featured comedians D.C. Young Fly, Rip Micheals, Karlous Miller along with GL Douglas, Omar Thompson and Brooklyn Mike. The crowd of students roared with laughter all night, making SLAM's Comedy Series Vol. 1 a hit.

Gov. Murphy declares state of emergency in New Jersey

Here's how it affects you

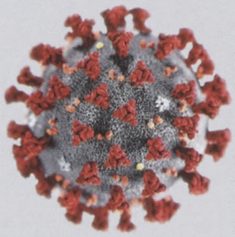
N.J. Gov. Phil Murphy speaks during a news conference on coronavirus preparations in Ewing on March 2.

Inside

MARCH 9, 2020

THE PANDEMIC

THE IMPACT ON SCHOOLS



For many students, an extended spring break turns into an early summer "staycation."

Just as we are looking forward to going on spring break, the world realizes that it's facing a pandemic, the likes of which hasn't been seen since 1918. Many schools' first response is to extend their spring break from one week to three weeks. But as the contagion spreads, educators decide to close for the year and/or switch to an entirely online curriculum. As the outbreak of COVID-19 accelerates, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention advises that closing schools for eight weeks or more will have a greater impact on containing the virus. Kansas is the first state to order all K-12 schools closed for the rest of the year, followed by Virginia. California Gov. Gavin Newsom closes schools "indefinitely," and Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis cancels all remaining testing for the school year, saying grades won't be calculated.

Canceling school also means canceling school functions, and now millions of students are faced with the possibility of not having spring sports, prom, graduation and other milestones of the academic experience. "The Class of 2020" becomes "The Class of COVID-19," losing what's left of their senior year and missing the traditional rites of passage that they have worked towards for the last 12 years.

School Lunch Stays Open

Nearly 30 million children in the U.S. count on schools to provide one or more meals each day. When schools across the U.S. close their doors to try to prevent the spread of COVID-19, many make arrangements to provide grab-and-go lunch bags or set up meal delivery routes.

Spring Break Gets Broken

Students look forward to spring break all year long, and plans to gather with friends and exploit the warmer weather are made well in advance. But the coronavirus has other ideas. Vacation hot spots become closed to the public indefinitely. Airlines reduce their number of flights by 30-70%, leaving travelers with few options to get to their vacation destinations.

Many students are already on spring break when the threat of COVID-19 becomes severe enough to mandate social distancing, while others downplay concerns about the outbreak. Those that keep their vacation plans force officials in Florida and other coastal hot spots to officially close public beaches at the height of the spring break rush.

The Show Must Hold On

The end of the school year is when everything culminates in one final show, but COVID-19 upends performances, tournaments and entire seasons. The theatre department was going to bring you an amazing production. The band and choir won't get to perform their end-of-year concerts. Leadership conferences are canceled. FFA conventions are postponed. The journalism staff has no idea how they are going to get your yearbooks out. Baseball, softball, lacrosse, soccer, track, golf and tennis seasons will not be played in their original form.

The end of the school year is when teams and organizations of all disciplines—athletic, academic and creative—showcase what they've been working on and compete at the state or national level for coveted titles. With social distancing measures put in place, everything suddenly becomes "on hold," another giant question mark in our academic calendars caused by the coronavirus.

The Dining Room is Closed Until Further Notice

To stop the spread of COVID-19 and encourage social distancing, restaurants offer curbside delivery instead of people gathering in their dining rooms. Many fast-food restaurants become "drive-thru only," and food delivery services like Shipt, Uber Eats and Doordash put food on the table for many Americans during a period of self-isolation. Many students with part-time jobs in the food industry see their hours severely cut or their positions eliminated entirely.

DOMESTIC IMPACT

COVID-19 causes everyone to take immediate, drastic measures to stop the spread of the virus, resulting in a temporary "new normal" for the foreseeable future.

It's humans vs. virus in a global game of freeze-tag. The only way to stop the pandemic from overtaking the planet is to immediately isolate everyone until treatments and vaccines become available. This means everyone—regardless of age or level of health—has to shelter in place to avoid spreading the virus and overwhelming hospitals. Staying isolated means you won't give the virus to anyone, and you won't get the virus from anyone.

For many students this means long stretches of quality time at home with books, video games, creative outlets and social media. But for our families, there are very dire concerns about how much longer our parents will be employed. How will they make the house payment? How much longer can we afford to go without their paycheck? The US government begins discussing options for stimulus packages to address this growing concern.

You Can't Spell "Pandemic" Without "Panic"

When the public is first made aware of the coronavirus, people begin to stockpile toilet paper for reasons that still aren't widely understood. And despite no major threat to the nation's supply chain, bread, bottled water, disposable gloves and hand sanitizer cannot stay on store shelves. Many retailers begin to limit the number of items a household can purchase.

Any Empty Bed Could be a Hospital Bed

Communal living quarters are the worst places to be in a pandemic, but not if they can be used as makeshift hospitals. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers makes plans to convert more than 10,000 empty hotel and dorm rooms into hospital rooms in the hardest-hit areas of New York City, Washington and California.

With 23 employees testing positive for the coronavirus, New York City's MTA has no choice but to cancel certain subway lines and more than 1,000 trips due to reduced staffing. This leads to packed platforms and overstuffed trains at a time when social distancing is our most important weapon against the spread of COVID-19.

Hollywood Disaster Movies Didn't Prepare Us For This Hollywood Disaster

Starting with the recommendation that people not gather in groups larger than 500, then 250, then eventually, 10, the movie industry faces dire consequences. "A Quiet Place II," "Fast and Furious 9" and 007's "No Time to Die" are the first movies to postpone their release dates. Pixar pushes "Onward" to Amazon's Prime Video Cinema streaming service only days after it's theatrical release. But for drive-in movie theaters, once a novelty throwback to a simpler time, the show will go on.

THE IMPACT ON ENTERTAINMENT

Celebrities Livestream During Quarantine

With concerts, festivals and movie productions shut down, celebrities stream performances from their homes to keep us entertained as we all stay #TogetherAtHome. Stephen Colbert and Trevor Noah deliver their late night TV monologues from their homes. And TikTok starts its first-ever livestream series #HappyAtHome: Live!

These Tickets Are No Longer Valid

Concerts, festivals, conventions, movie theaters and sporting events are all petri dishes of germs even without an active pandemic. But when social distancing is mandated, live entertainment may be the hardest hit.

Austin's tech, music and film conference South by Southwest cancels at the last minute. Music festivals Coachella and Stagecoach are pushed back six months to October. Pearl Jam, Avril Lavigne, Green Day, Blake Shelton and BTS cancel tour dates and reschedule shows. Stand up comedians take to livestreaming their sets. In New York, all Broadway shows are shut down as well as the Met Gala and Tribeca Film Festival. Las Vegas hotels, casinos and venues shut down, devastating Nevada's economy.

People stuck in self-isolation turn to streaming services like Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Prime Video, Disney+ and AppleTV+ to alleviate the boredom of staying put. Hulu adds a free, live news stream to its app to keep people up to date on the coronavirus. Netflix adds Netflix Party to connect with friends and sync streaming video, so you can virtually attend a movie with friends, without having to share your popcorn.

Disney Parks Go Dark

Citing "an abundance of caution," The Walt Disney Company announces all of their theme parks, cruise lines, hotels and shopping malls will close through the end of March 2020, with possible closure extensions as the situation evolves. This is the first time in history that all six Disney properties are closed simultaneously.

A Global Time-Out

The NBA abruptly suspends its season after Rudy Gobert of the Utah Jazz tests positive for COVID-19 ahead of Utah's tipoff against the Oklahoma City Thunder, sending home an arena full of very confused fans. The NHL freezes it's 2019-2020 season. Major League Soccer is put on hold, along with the start of Major League Baseball. The PGA cancels the Players Championship and postpones the Masters Tournament. And Formula 1, the Australian Grand Prix and NASCAR all postpone races until it's prudent to resume social gathering. The brand new XFL barely gets into its inaugural season before suspending play.

But the biggest impact comes with the announcement that the 2020 Olympics will be postponed until 2021, marking only the fourth rescheduling in the history of the modern Olympic Games.

March Madness Becomes March Sadness

The NCAA announces the Division I men's and women's 2020 basketball tournaments—as well as all remaining winter and spring NCAA championships—are canceled because of the evolving COVID-19 public health threat. Who had "the coronavirus" going all the way in their bracket?

Spring Sports Fall Back

High school athletes who compete in spring sports, take a knee. Spring sports such as soccer, track, tennis, golf, baseball, softball and lacrosse are completely on hold. Many teams aren't allowed to hold practices, meetings, conditioning or workouts during the time away from school. The NCAA even put a hold on recruitment, suspending National Letters of Intent signings until at least April 15, 2020.

THE IMPACT ON BUSINESS

COVID-19 Kills People, Only Hurts Economy

Our best chance to fight the spread of the coronavirus and save human lives is to stay home. And when people stay home, they can't earn money, so they stop spending money, so the economy comes to a grinding halt.

COVID-19 causes unprecedented spikes in unemployment and drastic slumps in the stock market, and we still don't know what damage will be done. We do know the only way to slow a pandemic and save lives is to shelter in place, and that forces us into a recession that could turn into an economic depression if treatment and a vaccine for this virus aren't developed soon.

If unemployment reaches 25 percent, it will be our worst rate since 1933 during the Great Depression. As entire cities buckle down and mandate self-isolation, we see a spike in unemployment claims across the country. Employees are hopeful that these are temporary measures until normalcy resumes. But many businesses, big and small, aren't equipped to be shuttered for weeks, and those companies may go away entirely without assistance from the government.

Historically, economies always recover, and there's no reason to believe we won't do the same after this virus is in check. How hard we are hit and how long the effects last is entirely dependent on how fast we stop COVID-19.

Fight or Flight? Stay Home and Fight

At the urging of both the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the U.S. Department of State, Americans do their civic duty and shelter in place to stop the spread of the coronavirus. Travel bans are enacted between nations and flights around the world are canceled. As non-essential travel comes to a screeching halt, the airline, hotel and tourism industries brace for impact. With bankruptcies looming on the horizon, all major airlines begin to negotiate with the government for bailouts.

Once this is over, you'll want to go to the mall for some retail therapy. But supply-chain disruptions caused by the coronavirus outbreak are likely to make goods from China—including clothes, cars and electronics—scarce well into the second quarter of 2020.

COVID-19 Causes Weight Loss to 401k's

There are a lot of moving parts to the U.S. economy, and at this stage in the pandemic, there are no clear answers as to what the lasting effects of this crisis will be. The short explanation is that while you were on spring break, your parents and grandparents watched in shock as their retirement funds got obliterated and their paychecks vanished into thin air.

Stock market drops happen, especially in times of uncertainty. But this is unlike recent stock market crashes that are caused by fears and speculations that change our economic behavior. With previous crashes, the government could attempt to change the course by infusing the market with stimulus plans. But when a pandemic forces millions of workers to shelter in place, the factories and machines they operate are shut down. Enormous resources lie dormant because the people who use them to keep the wheels of our economy turning must stay at home or risk catching and spreading a deadly disease.

Many public health officials consider it likely that severe social distancing measures will be needed throughout 2020 to stop this pandemic, and our modern economy has simply never seen a crisis of this scale before.

A Weapon of Math Destruction

Algebra teachers everywhere collectively scream "That's what I've been trying to teach you all semester!" when the entire planet becomes enthralled with charting exponential growth to predict and explain the rate of infection of COVID-19. The United States ranks among China, Italy, Spain and Germany as the hardest-hit. At the same time, South Korea, Singapore, Taiwan and Hong Kong appear to have some success at flattening the curve and spreading out the number of coronavirus cases over a longer period.

GLOBAL IMPACT

The World Health Organization officially changes their classification of COVID-19 from a public health emergency of international concern to a pandemic on March 11, 2020.

The first case of the novel coronavirus is reported in Wuhan, China, in December 2019. Early cases were believed to be connected to a live animal market in Wuhan. Because the virus was thought to have originated in animals, humans have no natural defense to the virus, and no known treatments exist.

The global implications have been severe, reaching every continent except Antarctica. Many countries have closed schools and non-essential businesses. International trade has slowed to a crawl. Some countries' borders have been completely closed, and travel is being discouraged unless it is absolutely necessary.

The current outbreak of infections sparks global anxiety and concern that the virus might spread too far and too fast, causing dramatic casualties before health officials find a cure.

SARS Made Hong Kong Ready for Coronavirus

As the epicenter of the 2003 SARS outbreak, Hong Kong has already established emergency protocols that help them avoid the exponential increase in COVID-19 cases that other countries cannot contain. Before the first confirmed case appears in Hong Kong, their health care system is alert and prepared to: declare an emergency response level, establish quarantine stations, close schools and public events, and take tracking and testing very seriously. Despite their proximity to China, Hong Kong manages to keep COVID-19 infections and death extraordinarily low.

It took 7,500 laborers working around the clock only 10 days to erect a makeshift emergency hospital in China's city of Wuhan—ground zero of the coronavirus pandemic. The facility is made up of two floors, featuring several isolation wards and 30 intensive care units. It can hold up to 1,000 patients.

Treatments and Cures Still Pending

COVID-19 is a novel (new) coronavirus, which means that as this pandemic gets larger and accelerates faster, scientists are still scrambling to find treatments and vaccines. This is why it is crucial to self-isolate the healthy and quarantine anyone who has potentially been exposed.

Makers Gonna Make, Make, Make, Make, Make

When hospitals run out of valves for crucial respiratory machines, their supplier can't ship replacements fast enough to keep patients alive. So local manufacturers step in to provide 3D print replicas. Without the actual specifications of the parts, the valves have to be reverse-engineered. 3D printers are brought on-site to hospitals to produce more life-saving devices and alleviate shortages. These quickly-printed emergency valves are never meant to replace the intricate, precise factory originals. Desperate times call for desperate measures, and until the supply can meet the demand, hospitals are having to improvise creative solutions to provide emergency life-saving care.

No One Can Thrive on an Empty Stomach

Community food banks are committed to meeting the need for emergency food, and they expect that need to increase as schools and workplaces shut down and the economy is affected by COVID-19.

Many food banks are unable to accept food donations because of the risk of infection, so the best way to help is to make a gift donation online. If you are healthy and able, ask if your local operation needs volunteers. If you are in need of a food donation, FeedingAmerica.org distributes 4.3 billion meals each year through a network of food pantries and meal programs.

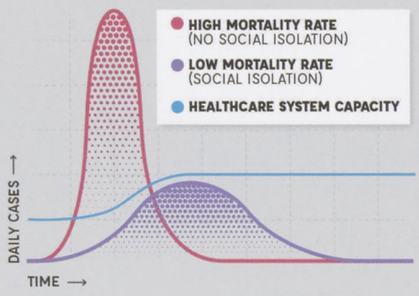
Planes Go Cargo

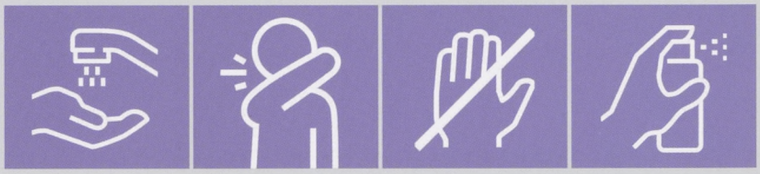
American Airlines has cut thousands of passenger flights in the face of the coronavirus. Now they are finding a purpose for some of their idle planes: flying their first cargo-only flights since 1984, when the airline retired their Boeing 747 freighters. With more than 200,000 commercial flights canceled, other airlines are stripping out passenger seats and turning their largest planes into cargo freighters as well.

FLATTEN THE CURVE

The biggest threat in this pandemic isn't necessarily the virus, but the stress on our healthcare system.

"Flattening the curve" refers to slowing the spread of the virus so that fewer people need to seek medical treatment at once, staying below the capacities of our health care system. Medical equipment and resources are finite, and once they become overwhelmed, people needing immediate treatment would tragically have to be turned away by hospitals.





WASH YOUR HANDS

Thoroughly and frequently wash your hands with soap and water for 20 seconds. Use hand sanitizer when hand washing is not available.

COVER YOUR MOUTH

Cough or sneeze into your upper sleeve or a tissue, and discard used tissues immediately.

AVOID CONTACT

Do not touch your eyes, nose or mouth with unwashed hands, as that's how the virus enters your system.

CLEAN SURFACES

Disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces using an EPA-registered household disinfectant.

WHAT WAS MOST MEMORABLE ABOUT MONTCLAIR STATE?

"When I took Criminology with Professor Kelly. He was so enthusiastic about it, I found Criminology so interesting that I would look forward to every class. Shortly after I switched to a Justice Studies major and felt confident that I chose the right path."

"The warm days out on the quad and seeing everyone have fun by hanging out with friends or playing instruments and sports!"

"Joining the Newark Teacher Project - a program dedicated to social justice education in urban communities."

"My most memorable part of MSU was the comfort and joy of talking to others, students, workers, staff, and faculty that I would run into in the student center. Some of those moments were the most joyful and fun parts of my stressful days."

"I enjoyed the long walks to class! During this time of the year, I would look forward to seeing everyone outside near the student center because it made me feel at home."

"The late nights spent laughing until my stomach hurt with my two roommates who have now become my two life long best friends."

"Walking the campus at 10:40 at night after my Research 304-02 class with Professor Weidenborner and feeling the crisp air in my face."

"The ability to constantly be with my friends and dancing until the early hours of the morning."

"Seeing my school friends everyday. Support from my professors & advising staff. California Tortilla's Sunset Sauce. Seeing the beautiful skyline."

"I will miss rooming with my best friend. She made my whole college experience since meeting her at freshman orientation."

"I will miss going to see the orchestras and performances at the Alexander Kasser Theater where I worked on campus."

"The professors, my friends, choir, and my advisor. My professors and advisor really wanted the best for me in everything I did, so I will miss the consistent support that they gave."

I will miss the people the most, from my brothers in my fraternity, my advisors, my staff members in ResLife, and all of my friends at the University. Being able to have fun on the job and enjoy others company is what makes attending college worth it.

"The people make the place; my friends, lab partners, acquaintances, professors."

"How alive it felt whenever I walked through the quad on a warm day."

"My daily exercise of going up the Car Parc stairs."

MONTCLAIR STATE

IN THREE WORDS

SENIOR QUESTIONNAIRE

"The material and content that I learned at Montclair was unsurpassable. I've learned so much and grown from it as a student and as a person."

"My professors who rooted for me and had confidence that I would become the best educator I could be."

"The moment I realized I had a group of friends that I could count on, and faculty that cared about me succeeding in my classes."

"I loved the energy and school spirit that I could always feel in the air. The genuine people and the willingness to be better and go above and beyond was something I noticed and loved while being at Montclair. That energy made me feel passionate about my work and allowed me to get up from bed every day with a smile and willingness to make a difference in the community and in myself."

As a transfer student, it was really hard to feel like I was supposed to be at MSU when I first got here. During my junior year, I felt like everything I had been worried about was falling into place - I had met some of my best friends, had some of the best roommates, I was an RA, I got my little in my Greek organization, I had better grades, and I was a lot happier with who I am. One day, I was just thinking about how every single thing I did had led me right to that moment and I knew that transferring to Montclair had been the right decision because I wouldn't be the same person I am today if I hadn't chosen MSU.

"I never went on a campus tour when I transferred from my community college. The minute I walked on campus for the first time to go to my orientation, I had the biggest smile on my face, and deep down I knew."

"The unity that followed from my learning community during the very first semester."

"I used to walk to class everyday from the village, I rarely took the shuttle unless it was raining or snowing. That walk everyday felt right, the scenery and how pretty the campus is made me feel like I was exactly where I belonged."

GRADUATION 2020

COLLEGE OF THE ARTS

Something I learned very quickly while attending The College of the Arts at Montclair State University is that no matter how much or how little industry experience you've had in the past, you are enough. The most important thing to focus on is how you can expand your knowledge and capabilities through embracing every and any opportunity that comes your way. By getting myself involved in my program and asking many questions, I was able to recognize my capabilities and expand my professional horizons, and I will forever be grateful to Montclair for showing me that.

COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

When I became a part of Montclair State's College of Humanities and Social Sciences, I knew the true feeling of "there is no place like home." This 'home,' better known as the community of my fellow classmates, professors, faculty members, and our classrooms, welcomed me with their hearts, minds, and open arms to make me feel like I was exactly where I was meant to be. The personal and educational experiences I've had over the last four years in CHSS have truly shaped me into the best version of myself, a version I could not have pictured in my wildest dreams. By staying true to who you are and your passion, you will have the support system to become everything you've ever wanted.

Coming to Montclair State University, I was not 100% sure about what path I wanted to take. However, I knew what my end goal was. The College of Science and Mathematics provided me with the resources and support from both the faculty and my classmates. Over the last four years, I switched my major four times, and all four were within CSAM. I guess you could say I could not stay away from "home." I have faced many challenges academically, personally, and professionally, nevertheless, the faculty would always go the extra mile after our class time to connect and offer the support needed which helped build me into the leader I am today.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

During my time as an undergraduate in the Feliciano School of Business, I was blessed to have knowledgeable professors, in-depth class discussions, and many classmates that I can now call some of my closest friends. I was able to bring my own experiences and ideas to the table, and I cannot wait to utilize what I learned over these past four years in my future role within the business world!

Yearbook Editor-in-Chief

MacKenzie Garrity

Dear Class of 2020,

As I sit here and write this letter, it's late January 2021 and the yearbook is just about finished. Since COVID-19 hit in March, graduating from Montclair State, and navigating through graduate school, there have been a handful of unexpected setbacks in many aspects of life. Not only in mine, but in almost everyone's. From these unique times though, we have learned valuable lessons, have tried to be better for ourselves instead of others, and have made efforts to focus on what makes us truly happy. 2020 taught us many things and tested our strength (and sanity), but as college graduates, we have shown our ability to be doubtlessly adaptable and resilient. Things were not easy, and are still on the more difficult side, but because of our generation's drive to be better, we will become stronger and smarter through it all.

Considering the circumstances of our senior year, many planned and anticipated events were not able to happen. Because of this, I tried my best to make this book personal to our class, while still recording the historic experience we lived through. I hope you all look back on this book not only as a sentiment of your Montclair experience but as a timepiece for the beginning of our lives in the "real" world. I hope you enjoy going through this book as much as I enjoyed making it for you all. Always come as you are and Carpe Diem.

Best,
MacKenzie Garrity
